

We hope this Fathers Day June 20th is a special one for you.

As fathers, we've been given one of the most incredible jobs and challenges on earth - protecting and providing for our family. The degree to which our wives and children develop into complete human beings depends, in large part, on our ability to keep our eyes on the ball. Keeping God first in our lives so He may also be first in their lives.

This all revolves around you staying healthy. Spiritually healthy. Connected to your Father in heaven to the extent that your family sees you take your guidance from Him and His Word daily.

There are two Fathers Day events this year to tell you about. Each of them feature excellent speakers to remind you of the source of your strength and purpose. We hope that you are able to take the time to watch at least one of them.
